

PARENT CODE OF CONDUCT

Youth Sports Philosophy:

Recreational Youth Sports are based on certain beliefs and philosophies: participation and everyone plays. We encourage having a healthy spirit, mind, and body, meaning the development of the whole person. We also emphasize fundamentals, teamwork, fair play, cooperation, and respect for the officials, self, one's teammates, and the other team.

Every decision you make and every behavior you display is based first on what you think is best for your athletes, and second, on what can be accomplished to have everyone become a winner.

I hereby pledge to provide positive support, care, and encouragement for my child participating in the Youth Sports Program by following this Parent Code of Conduct:

I will encourage good sportsmanship by demonstrating positive support for all participants, coaches, and officials.

I will do my best to make this program fun for my child.

I will keep winning in perspective. A child usually forgets the outcome of the game: it is the adults that tend to stress the win/loss record.

I will ask my child to treat other participants, coaches, officials, parents, and spectators with respect regardless, of race, age, sex, creed, or ability.

I will treat officials and coaches with respect. They are there to provide your child with a safe and healthy learning environment. The officials and coaches are our neighbors from town and live in our community. I will treat them with respect.

I will strive to be a good role model for my child and the other children in the program. I will encourage my child to learn to lose with dignity and win with grace.

I will recognize the importance of volunteer coaches. I realize they are important to the development of my child and the program. They have stepped up and because of this my child is able to play. I will communicate with them and support their decisions. I will help them as needed.
